

is a member of the Open Invention Network \(OIN\), a patent non-aggression community that supports freedom of action in Linux as a key element of open source software. OIN acquires patents and licenses them royalty-free to its community members which, in turn, agree not to assert their own patents against Linux and Linux-related systems and applications [description from WikiPedia].